Yes, indeed, Jesus Christ is ...

coming again. He is coming literally, visibly, bodily, in like manner as He has gone away. The fact is absolutely certain, while the time has not yet been revealed. It is the imminency of His return which gives to the second coming of Christ the power and comfort which it contains. Jesus will return someday, and He may return today.

– M.R. DeHaan

Skeptics have said ...

that Christianity defies logic, making 1+1+1 = 1. This is a misunderstanding. The Trinity is not a triplex (by addition) but a triunity (by multiplication). The one essence has multiple personalities. Thus, there is not any more of a mathematical problem in conceiving the Trinity than there is in understanding 1 to the third power or 1x1x1 = 1.

There are times ...

when it will be necessary and urgent to fight for the purity of the Gospel. In such a fight we will need to be constant in prayer, guarding our hearts from pride, arrogance, and carnal anger, and ever keeping our egos out of the fight because it's not about us – it's about Christ and the truth of His saving work, and the health of His church. But with these things in clear perspective, then like Paul and Jude... we can take our stand and fight for the purity of the saving gospel – no matter how unpopular, derided, and offensive such a fight will be in the postmodern age wherein we live. May God thus grant us the grace to be faithful to Him and His Word – especially when our faithfulness will call us to strive against any such doctrine that would undermine and undercut the blessed Gospel at any point.

I refuse to read a book ...

written by someone who knows more about heaven [or about hell, or about Christ, or about the future] than the Bible tells us. If we get our information about heaven from sources other than the Bible, we are not going to get a view of heaven as God has it. There is so much about heaven that we do not know.

As far as we know ...

the blue whale is the largest animal that has ever existed [larger than any dinosaur]. Every statistic that we find about these giants is overwhelming. A blue whale’s tongue is larger than an elephant. Its flipper can be about six feet long – as long as a man is tall. A baby blue whale is the size of two minivans. Their mouths could hold 400 people. Yet the creatures they eat – krill – are only about half an inch long. They swallow vast amounts of water, then filter it back through their baleen – the strange keratin filter-like structure that they have in their mouths. They eat four tons of krill a day. That is 4 million of the tiny creatures. Babies consume 50 to 100 gallons of milk per day. The blue whale’s tail is as wide as a soccer net. One of these whales can dive to nearly 1,000 feet, and they can stay there for 30 minutes, without needing a breath. The water that they blow through their blowhole can jet up to 30 feet high. In short, these are magnificent animals, clearly illustrating the greatness and the beauty of God’s creation.

We read in Genesis 1:21 that God made them on the fifth day of creation: “And God created great whales, and every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly.” The word translated as “whales” could also refer to other large sea creatures, but it certainly includes these beautiful, amazing giants of the ocean.

triggered a bunch of God-hating Democrats after he pointed out that God makes people uniquely male or female. Steube said, “When men or women claim to be able to choose their own sexual identity, they are making a statement that God did not know what he was doing when he created them. The gender confusion that exists in our culture today is a clear rejection of God’s good design. Whenever a nation’s laws no longer reflect the standards of God that nation is in rebellion against him and will inevitably bear the consequences. We are seeing the consequences of rejecting God here in our country today.” That comment drew a fiery response from Rep. Jerry Nadler (D-NY). “What any religious tradition describes as God’s will is no concern of this Congress.” May God have mercy on our nation.

A great many people ...

make the mistake of trying to live the life before they receive the life. The hardest thing I know is to try to live the Christian life when you do not have it to live. There must be a Christian life first before you can exemplify and manifest it. To try to live a Christian life when you have never been born again is just as hopeless as for a chimpanzee to try and live a human life. I have seen some chimpanzees that could copy things people do in a remarkable way. At a zoo in Philadelphia, they once said to me, ‘Come along and see a couple of your ancestors.’ I went along; there were two trained chimpanzees who had learned to mimic human beings to a remarkable degree. They wore clothes, sat at a table, ate, and drank, and in a clumsy way handled a knife and fork. When they got all through, they settled back and put cigarettes in their mouths, and a keeper lit them, and they looked to me exactly like a lot of our own people do when smoking cigarettes. But although those chimps could do all those things, they did not know anything about real human life. They did not know anything of the principles controlling men and women. They were simply imitators. Many people imitate Christians and try to behave like them. They do not know anything of the power of the Christian life. They have never been born again. ‘Except a man be born again, he cannot see the Kingdom of God’ (John 3:3).
